

Aria Starts School

Step inside a friendly morning where new friends are waiting for you.

Next Week

My name is Aria. Next week, I will start school. School is a new place with new people. I do not know anyone there yet.

My Own Hook

My grown-up walks me through the gate. We go past the tall green plant. My teacher says good morning. I hang my coat on my own hook.

A Little Nervous

Then I go into my classroom. There are low tables and little chairs. Many children feel a little nervous on their first days. It is okay to feel nervous. That feeling usually gets smaller each day.

Hello

Other children are new too. Most of them want a friend, just like me. I can try saying hello to someone. Sometimes they say hello back.

Story Time

Sometimes we sit together on the rug in the reading corner. My teacher reads a story out loud. We listen and look at the pictures.

Snack Time

At snack time, we sit at tables by the big windows. The sun shines in. Sometimes I sit next to a child I said hello to.

Home Time

Later, my grown-up comes back to the gate. I walk past the tall plant to meet them. Each day, school feels a little more like mine. I am ready to start school.
